

Weekly Report (Week 9)

- We did not have any meeting with the supervisor in the last week.
- We explored various technologies and tools that will be used in our Web App:
  - One team member is working on JavaScript for frontend development.
  - One team member is exploring backend technologies and databases.
  - We searched some already built medical field models that we may or may not incorporate in our project.
  - We found that MedPaLM is Google's model, and similar models exist but are not available for public use.